

Sheep

Here is the description of a found object. While the main pages will talk about larger course concepts, talking about found objects will relate more closely to my life and experiences. In particular, my faith in Jesus is a major driving force in everything I do, and I want to use these Found Objects to talk about various aspects of my faith. On each page, the objects chosen will relate to the larger theme of that page, as an example of that theme in action. I will differentiate the text between these two node types by coloring it dark red, as if it was written in red ink, as well as laying the magnifying glass over that spot to show the object larger. The red color, while matching the theme colors, also signifies the blood of Jesus, poured out for us.
